Intro

A cervix wand (also known as 'serpent wand') is a highly sacred self-intimacy & self-pleasure tool.

Cervix wands are designed to gently de-armor the most armored part of a woman's yoni, leading her to soften & feel more aliveness & connection with her womb/ creational space.

Here are 5 amazing ways a cervix wand can change your life:

1.

Cervix wands evoke a mystical experience.

Many women report feeling in an altered state or ecstatic timelessness after a cervical orgasm. It brings on a transcendent experience of completely dissolving into the present moment and feeling one with everything.

It's now believed that the human body can produce its own 'spirit molecule' known as DMT. If that's the case, then it's possible that women's bodies may be releasing trace amounts of this same psychedelic substance that's found in ayahuasca and many other plants and animals.

Cervix wands activate full body orgasms that can last for days.

What separates the cervical orgasm from other orgasms is they have the potential to last much longer- sometimes days! After using the cervix wand, it's possible to go into a trance of deep peace and inner calm that lasts for 2 days.

You may reach quiet stillness and a space of 'no thought' which can make your social interactions easy and loving. Cervical orgasms are also different in that they expand throughout the entire body, giving you access to what's known as 'the Tantric orgasm.'

3.

Cervix wands stimulate an acupressure point that assists with emotional clearing.

In Taoist teachings, it's been long understood that the cervix is connected with the heart. When we engage with a cervix wand we gently activate this 'heart' reflexology point.

This opens up energy channels in the body, giving us access to emotions that would otherwise be suppressed or stored in our mother line.

When old emotional information unlocks, we get the opportunity to digest it and clear it from our system, which results in us feeling freer, lighter, and more energized.

Cervix wands provide a pathway to heal inner masculine wounding.

Using a cervix wand makes you the provider of pleasure for yourself. It forces you to look at your inner masculine- how present he is as a lover, how he's showing up, and how he's penetrating you with the wand.

This inner masculine force is usually either creating a protective shell, or it's holding you infinitely in Love.

A cervix wand practice helps your inner masculine evolve from the immature state of forcing and controlling into a more relaxed state of loving presence with yourself.

Working with a cervix wand positions you to attract a more aligned lover.

When women act from that urgent place of grasping at life and controlling from fear, we often grasp at the wrong potential partners or lovers. We initiate all the conversations, chase a man, or go on the dating site out of boredom and anxiety.

Practicing with a cervix wand puts the focus back on our pleasure, our relaxation, and our self-love. These are what magnetize aligned lovers to us, because these qualities make us more likely to trust life and open to the unknown each day.

Tips

When playing with your cervix wand, it's important to go slow.

We are not 'pushing' or 'forcing' her open. We are simply making contact.

You may wish to simply hold the wand there. Or, if your cervix is inviting it you can experiment with massaging the area.

Most likely you'll need a lot of foreplay and to warm up to using the cervix wand. Breast massage & yoni massage are great ways to relax/ open to it.
